How to exercise stock options

6 Order Information

• In the Enter Your Exercise Order Information section, choose either Market to have the order executed at the next available sale price or Limit to have the order executed only if the stock price reaches the price you designate (enter the Limit Price).

• Under Time Limit, for Market orders choose Day, and for Limit orders choose either Day or GTC (Good Till Cancelled, valid for only 30 calendar days).

(See next page for more on sale order types.)

• You can choose to have the cash proceeds from sales transactions sent to you by check, wired to another account (as specified in your wire instructions) or held in your brokerage account (LIIA). Keep in mind the LIIA is a non-interest-bearing account.

• Please note that if you select a Cash Purchase exercise you will not be prompted to select your Sale Order Type or Distribution Method.

• Select Continue to Exercise to review your exercise information.

• Before you exercise, you must re-enter your Benefits OnLine Password for added security.

• Select Submit within 90 seconds or your request will time out.

Choosing your sale order type

Before exercising your stock options, you must decide when you want the sale to take place — at the next available sale price (a “market order”) or at a specified price (a “limit order”).

- Merrill Lynch will execute all sale orders subject to market conditions.
- You may receive partial execution of the sale order you place, resulting in only a portion of your stock options being exercised. Once your exercise has been entered, you should check the exercise confirmation on Benefits OnLine to determine the number of stock options exercised. You may need to re-enter the order for the balance of the options not exercised.

Company blackouts

- Generally, all limit orders related to stock option exercises will be cancelled at the outset of a blackout period (a period set by your company during which purchases and sales of company stock are prohibited). Generally, no stock option exercises will be processed online during a blackout period.
- No new orders related to stock option exercises may be placed online or over the phone during a blackout period.

Any and all blackout periods are determined by your company and are subject to change.
